

Linear TIME: evidence summary

Linear TIME now defines exact ridge experiments for joint panel forecasting, seeded seen/unseen user generalization, and three variate-sharing modes over calendar-scale L-H grids. Dataset semantics distinguish physical quantities from repeated users and sensors. No real-data job has been submitted, so there are no forecasting findings to report. The next evidence is the Selena smoke profile followed by complete current-contract runs.